

List of Tables and Figures

Tables

1.1	Measurements in Selective Studies of Refugee Mental Health	11
6.1	The Research Questions, Samples, Measurements, and Main Results of Psychosocial Research among Palestinian Women, Children, and Ex-prisoners	108
6.2	Examples of Compensatory Relationship between (a) Passive Coping Strategies and Active Initiation Dreams, and (b) Active Coping Strategies and Passive Avoidance Dreams	125
7.1	Variables Used in Studies of Refugee Economic Integration	137
7.2	Sample Sizes and Total Population Estimates	139
7.3	Personal Economic Characteristics of California Residents	140
7.4	Economic Characteristics of California Southeast Asian Childhood Refugees, Adult Refugees, and U.S.-Born Peers	141
7.5	Logistic Regression of Employment Status of Southeast Asian Refugees: Classification Results	144
7.6	Logistic Regression of Employment Status of Southeast Asian Refugees: Parameter Estimates	145
8.1	Description of Two samples	156
8.2	The Traumatic Events That the URC Have Experienced on Their Journey to Hong Kong and in the Detention Centers	159
8.3	Number of Years in Camps	161
8.4	With Whom They Stay before Fleeing and after Repatriation	163
8.5	Children's Evaluation of the Standard of Living of Their Families	165

8.6	Observations of the URC and LC about the Present Life of Their Families	165
8.7	Mean and Standard Deviation of Dependent Measures on the YSR Scale of the URC and LC by Gender	168
8.8	Difference between Children in Rural and Urban Areas	169
8.9	Correlation between YSR-ss3-Anxiety/Depression Subscale and Dependent Measures	170
8.10	Mean and Standard Deviation and Dependent Measures on the Perceived Self-Efficacy Scale of the URC and LC by Gender	171
8.11	Correlation between the Social Support Scale and Other Dependent Measures	172
10.1	Frequency of Children's Worries: Response to the Inventory of Children's Worries	198
10.2	Significant Differences in Boys' and Girls' Worries	199

Figures

1.1	A Common Psychosocial Approach to the Study of Refugee Wellness	7
2.1	Quality of Life Assessment Derived from Prior Qualitative Interviews	35
2.2	A Checklist for Program Evaluation	36
6.1	Schematic Model of Stressful Person-Environment Interactions	122